

AS Level Languages: French, Spanish, German and Turkish

Do you want to live and work in another country? Do you want to be able to converse with people in another language? Would you be interested in a career in interpreting and translation, travel and tourism, or international business? The ideal way to do this is to study a language at A Level. The course encourages you to extend your language skills (listening, speaking, reading and writing), and gives you an understanding of the topical issues in the different countries where that language is spoken.

If your first language is French, Spanish, German or Turkish, this AS Level will allow you to demonstrate that you can speak, read and write intelligently and fluently in your own language, and engage with social and cultural issues relevant to the countries in which it is spoken. Therefore, gaining an advanced qualification is potentially valuable, especially if you want to use your native language in your future career. This course can also count towards university entry..

What will I be doing?

focus on spoken and written French, Spanish, German or Turkish reading about a wide range of topics in your chosen language study different themes relating to current affairs, traditions and culture

How will I be assessed

AS Level French, Spanish and German are made up of two exams: one reading, writing and listening paper, and one oral exam

AS Level Turkish is made up of one exam covering reading, writing and listening; there is no oral exam assessments from AS Level (first year) will count towards the final award if you decide to progress to A2 Level in your second year
